The Walk-O-Long

Give your child confidence in developing balance and coordination with the Walk-O-Long. It has proven itself invaluable as a physical therapy and "special-needs" tool. Thanks to the Walk-O-Long, Clarissa, who has cerebral palsy, can now go on walks with her mother without the aid of her walker. Click here for more info and to watch videos.

INDEPENDENCE in drinking

This drinking straw, with geometric spline, enables it to be placed in almost any position. Perfect for scooter or wheelchair user. Even if you are on the move, this straw will remain stable until placed into another position. Great for bed-side. Cap twists onto most plastic bottles from 8 oz. to 2 liters. Snap-together plastic units can be added or removed to change the length of the straw.

Six million wheelchairs take to the skies each year and only five million complete their journey intact. Half of all frequent wheelchair flyers have had to contend with damage to their mobility devices on a trip - so many, that complaints about wheelchair damage rank among the top ten Department of Transportation issues related to treatment of people with disabilities.

At Haseltine Systems Corporation, that's unacceptable! That's why we created The Flyer, the first and only high impact, lightweight, portable case that armors your chair against damage.
